

Wow!

I just wanted to thank you so much for the opportunity that you have given me. I have learned so much this week!

In addition to all the insight and advice I have received this week, all the great people I have met and friends I made, time away from my busy life in Queens really gave me time to think and reflect on myself as a person.

This week has opened my eyes in a way I never would have imagined. This week has helped me realize that I have not yet found my true identity and my true passion and that I don't know who I want to be or how I want to affect the world.

I hope that I will find myself sometime in the near future.

A quote comes to mind, "Be the change you wish to see in the world." - Ghandi

I wish to change the world in great ways, all because this week I learned that one person can make a huge difference even if it is only to a handful of others.

Thank you so much,

Amy